

CHARLIE GUIDING IN ALASKA

and recreate in any state that my time and checkbook allow. I have been blessed with a great family who exposed me to hunting from the time I was born. My mom and dad own Mile High Outfitters, and I learned to work hard. If you wanted a drink of water, you packed it from the spring. If you wanted to stay warm, you hauled wood. If you wanted to hunt, you climbed mountains. I have been blessed to work for an amazing registered guide in Alaska named Lance Kronberger. He and his crew have allowed me to help guide for Dall sheep and mountain goat. Lance, his wife, Nikki, and their two children hold a special place in my heart. I was also blessed to have amazing coaches and teachers throughout my junior high and high school years. They helped instill a work ethic and gave me time off to go on these once-in-a-lifetime hunts. Even though I have graduated, they are still just a phone call away. Most of all, I have been blessed with health and determination to make my own future.

"If you are reading this article, chances are you have also been blessed. Take time to give thanks for what you already have."

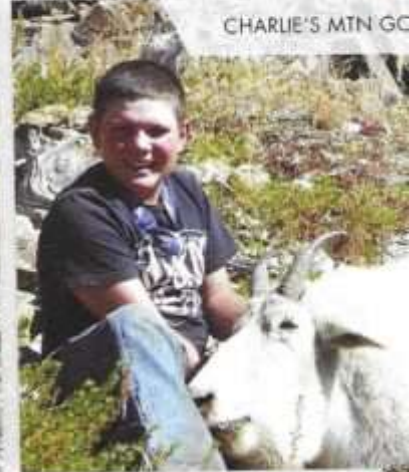

When you add it all up, Idaho trophy species tags are a wonderful addition, but they are a decimal point in a fraction of what I should be thankful for. If you are reading this article, chances are you have also been blessed. Take time to give thanks for what you already have. EE

CHARLIE'S CALIFORNIA
BIGHORN SHEEP

CHARLIE'S ROCKY
MTN BIGHORN SHEEP

CHARLIE'S MTN GOAT